Student: Good afternoon!

Librarian: Good afternoon, how can I help you? What kind of book would you like to read?

Student: I am looking for an interesting book. I want to have a little break after my exam in Maths.

Librarian: You can look through modern poetry on the right and adventure stories in the section near the main entrance. Newspapers and magazines are in the section near the window.

Student: I'd rather choose something more exciting, more adventurous. Ah, here's the book I want to read. I'm lucky to have found it so quickly! What do I need to do to borrow it?

Librarian: You need a library card. You can apply for it right now if you don't have one.

Student: Ok, here's my application form. I've filled it out already.

Librarian: Could you please sign the back of the card? Now you can borrow six books.

Student: I see, six books.

Librarian: And you have two weeks to read the books. Then you have to bring them back.

Student: And what if I'm late?

Librarian: There is a fee of fifty pence for each day late.

Student: OK, 50 pence a day. Err, anything else?

Librarian: Well, if you want to study in the reading room you cannot use your mobile phone. You have to switch it off. You can bring your laptop, but please use headphones to watch videos or listen to music.

Student: OK, great.

The programme "Who Wants to Be a Millionaire?" comes from the United Kingdom. Emma sat in the green room. She was a bit worried, waiting for her turn on a TV show, as she always dreamed of being on the show. Now her dream was coming true. She touched her lucky talisman, a small silver coin Grandpa gave her. He said it would bring her luck.

When she walked onto the stage, the people in the studio clapped their hands loudly. The host, Mr. Johnson, smiled warmly and asked, "Are you ready, Emma?" She moved her head down and up, feeling butterflies in her stomach. She sat in the big chair and looked at the big screen in front of her. "Let's begin," Mr. Johnson said. The first question appeared on the screen. It was easy, asking about the capital of France. "Paris," she answered quickly. The crowd clapped as she got it right.

The questions got harder as she went on. If at any point a player is not sure of the answer to a question, they can use one or more hints or "lifelines". Emma used her lifelines carefully. She called her best friend for one, used Fifty-Fifty for another question, in other words asked the host to take away two wrong answers, leaving her with a choice only between two answers, and she also asked the audience for help on a difficult history question.

Finally, she got to the million-dollar question. Her heart was beating very fast. She looked at the question, "Which element has the chemical symbol 'Au'?" She knew this one. Grandpa used to be a science teacher in the past, and he taught her this. "Gold," she answered.

The lights were out, and the room went silent. Mr. Johnson made a pause for a moment, then shouted, "Correct! You've won a million dollars!" The audience clapped their hands loudly, and confetti fell from the ceiling. Emma couldn't believe it. She was a millionaire! She thanked Grandpa quietly, knowing his lucky talisman had worked.

Our family travels a lot. My parents say that if we (GO) to the USA in February or March next year, we will take part in Ice Alaska. The event happens every year and promotes art, culture, and tourism.

It was started in 1934 by Kay Huffman and Clara Murray West. They used to organise the Fairbanks Winter Carnival with parades and dog races. Four years later, it (BECOME) the Ice Carnival and Dog Derby.

The event grew and turned into an international ice-carving contest. In 1990, the first competition took place, and the French team was the winner. Since then, hundreds of artists from all over the world have enjoyed (TAKE) part in Ice Alaska.

Visitors can watch the artists at work and see all the finished sculptures in a fantastic light display. Children can have fun, too, in the Kids' Park, which offers a wide range of (ACTIVITY), including rides, slides, mazes, and trains.

Today, being a sculptor, a volunteer, or a visitor in Ice Alaska (GIVE) a healthy, family-oriented outdoor experience. I hope my parents and I will be able to go there next year.
